

GHP Far East: German Quality Made in Vietnam

Posted: Wednesday, February 13, 2008

After more than half of a decade of operation in Germany and other countries in the world, GHP began its presence in Vietnam in 2004 by establishing a company in Quang Trung Software Park in Ho Chi Minh City.

Mr Frank Schellenberg, CEO of GHP Vietnam.

GHP Vietnam specialises in information technology and hi-tech services, including business process outsourcing and data entry, software development, and IT application services.

The company emphasizes product quality, data security and perfect services.

In terms of data entry, GHP is able to process various types of data and transform them into different formats for customers. With experienced and qualified employees in the data entry field, GHP can process more than 50,000 documents each day, with the highest quality standards and accuracy up to 99.98 per cent.

The data will be kept completely secure and encoded before the delivery. In addition, the company always ensures timely delivery of products to clients. GHP's customers are companies operating in such fields as financial services, insurance, consultancy, publishing, auto technology and industry. GHP operates under the guideline of German Quality Made in Vietnam.

"We have surveyed other markets such as Laos, Cambodia and Malaysia, but we are lured by the development of Vietnam's economy, the Vietnamese labour force and the open policy of the Vietnamese government in the information technology sector. We have a team of 280 professional employees. The team of managers comes from famous universities in Vietnam, such as Ho Chi Minh City Polytechnic University, and Ho Chi Minh City National University," said Mr Frank Schellenberg, CEO of GHP Vietnam.
